

Save €50 on Next Year's Tax Returns and Convert Money Effectively

The tax season is upon us... Taxes may not be fun but being financial savvy is always a good thing. As expats, we occasionally need to convert currencies, especially EUR to USD, or vice versa. Let's be smart and minimize our expenses when converting our dollars to another currency.

As an expat, you already have many things on your mind, but the last thing you want is to pay enormous fees when transferring cash between currencies.

MoneyCorp offers some of the options that will help you reduce your costs in converting currency. Through Mir Taxes you can get a free account with MoneyCorp and they will waive the transaction charge.

You will be given a €50 discount on your tax preparation for tax year 2016 once your account has been confirmed opened with its first transaction. To open an account, you can go to:
